Beveridge Rolls Up 16,445 Lead Against New

TWO-THIRDS OF VOTE IN

News of Indiana Primary Causes Stir in Washington

INDIANAPOLIS — (Associated Press) — Former Senator Albert J. Beveridge steadily increased the lead he has had over Senator Harry S. New as the slowly counted precincts from remote parts of the state came in today and with 2,508 out of 3,384 precincts heard from, had rolled up a majority of 16,445.

The vote in these precincts stood: Beveridge, 145,324; New, 128,879.

The vote included approximately half the precincts in Marion-co (Indiana) where New showed his greatest strength.

The precincts to come include 673 down state where Beveridge has been showing steady gains and 107 in Marion-co where New is leading.

While the race for the Republican nomination went on, former Governor Samuel M. Hinson continued his large lead over the field of aspirants for the Democratic senatorial nomination. His vote in 913 precincts was 51,983, while his four opponents had an aggregate of only 26,849. His nearest opponent, Jesse Sanders, had but 8,626 votes.

SEVEN RENOMINATED

Seven Republican representatives seeking renomination seemed likely on the indications of partial returns, to attain their ambition. Oscar Riland in the second district; Richard Elliott in the sixth; Albert H. Vestal in the eighth; Fred S. Purnell in the ninth; Will Wood in the tenth and Louis W. Fairfield in the twelfth had comfortable leads while Merrill Moores in the seventh also was out in front although returns were so watered and so few they were not conclusive.

There were a number of close races among the Democratic candidates for congressional nominations. John W. Ewing, with a commanding lead of 6,420 votes in one-third of the precincts of the third district, and William F. Spooner, unopposed in the fourth, showed the only Democratic certain of nomination.

Mrs. W. A. Cullop continued in third position in the race in the second district while in the thirteenth district, Miss Kathleen O'Keefe led her three opponents by a small vote.

NEAR PANIC IN G. O. P. RANKS

WASHINGTON — (United Press) — Partial returns on the Indiana senatorial primary created a near-panic in Republican senatorial ranks today.

Sensitiveness was amazed and incredulous over the news that returned from about half the state showed Beveridge more than 5,000 in the lead over Senator Harry S. New. The fact that many of the precincts yet to report are from sections where Beveridge should be stronger than New added to the gloom of New's friends.

Senator Jim Watson, New's colleague was surrounded by an eager group the minute he appeared in the senate. Watson had no later information than that conveyed in United Press dispatches. "New," he said, "cannot show him victor for the nomination."

If New loses his defeat will be interpreted as a direct slap at the Harding administration.

DRY LAW IS HIT

Episcopal Bishop Claims Right to Ask Amendment

BOSTON — (Associated Press) — Bishop William Lawrence, of the Episcopal diocese of Massachusetts, in his annual report to the diocesan convention today asked whether it was not time to recognize the right of every convention which did not believe in constitutional prohibition to say so and in public.

Hundreds of thousands of workers who found solace and comradeship after the day's work in what they felt to be their innocent pleasures of the night had been snatched from them, and thousands of thousands of reputable citizens found their personal liberties and domestic habits broken in upon. Surely it is competent for every citizen to speak, work and do every thing consistent within the law to have a law either amended or repealed."

BLAST IN CHEMICAL ROOM

President Watches Blaze From White House

WASHINGTON — (United Press) — The United States treasury — world's greatest money storehouse, was damaged by fire of mysterious origin early today.

A portion of the roof was destroyed. Damage was estimated at $100,000. This is the fifth strange fire to break out in Washington recently.

Flames 40 feet high shot from the roof of the treasury.

An explosion occurred in a room where chemicals used in making treasury blueprints are stored. It was denied that chemicals used in testing bootleg liquor blew up.

The flickering glare aroused President Harding, who watched the blaze from a White House window as sparks showered into the grounds of the executive mansion — just across the street from the treasury and a cordon of marines held back the crowd.

CURRENCY SAFE

The best information obtainable early today was that no Liberty bonds or currency were destroyed. These securities with the vast hoard of gold and silver, held by the United States are kept in vaults in the basement of the treasury and the fire was confined to the roof of the building.

It is the second blaze that has menaced the treasury this year, the other one also starting on the roof. It is one of a series of mysterious fires that has broken out in Washington, within the last two weeks. The origin of these fires such as those in the Willard Hotel ball room, the Portland Hotel and Liggett's drug store, has not been determined.

AGED PUBLISHER STILL ACTIVE

George Kinder, 86, "Grinds Out" Copy Daily in Ottawa

OTTAWA — When homes were illuminated with tallow dips and one traveled on ox-carts, George D. Kinder, 86, veteran Putnam-co. resident, was a newspaperman, turning out copy.

These days when the brilliance of electric bulb, turns darkness into day and it is no longer an uncommon sight to see an airplane winging across the sky, he still is a newspaperman turning out copy.

For seven decades Kinder has been fighting with the pen. He started his journalistic career at the age of 15, as an editor and printer.

Andrew Jackson was president of the United States when he was born and like "Old Hickory" he has been a strong advocate of Jeffersonian Democracy.

In his younger days, Kinder's hobby was to buy and build up run-down newspapers and sell them at a profit. He served on the Hamilton Telegram, Erie County News, Ottawa County News, Greenville Democrat, Bucyrus Forum and the Putnam County Sentinel.

Some of these papers have passed out of existence, or are being operated now under different names.

He came to Ottawa in 1867, and many years he practically controlled the political policies of Putnam-co. While editor of a newspaper he consistently refused to become a candidate for any office.

Kinder is a great reader and is said to have accumulated the finest library in Putnam-co. The century mark is his goal.

BANK IS WRECKED

Bandits Get $12,000 After Blowing Up Institution

DENVER — (Associated Press) — After firing nine shots of nitroglycerine which practically wrecked the building of the First National Bank at LaFayette, 15 miles from here, early this morning, bandits escaped with approximately $12,000 in currency and Liberty bonds.

George Stubbs, night marshal who was found tied and gagged in an alley, declared he was set upon by four men about 2 o'clock and overpowered.

O. C. Alderson, one of the many residents awakened by the blasts, seized his rifle, attempted to cut off the escape of the yeggmen, but was shot in the leg and wounded.

The last of the nitroglycerine blasts was so heavy that the huge door of the vault was blown thru the plate glass window of the bank and across the street.

DISARMING AGAIN TO FRONT

Demand by Germany and Russia at Genoa

BASIS OF TRADE BUILDING

Declare Business Depends on Policy of Peace

GENOA — (Associated Press) — The disarmament question bobbed up today in a plenary session of the Genoa conference.

Walter Rathenau, the German foreign minister, said the world's trade must be doubled before conditions could be bettered, but that this could not be done while the nations were jumping at each other's throats.

Foreign Minister Tchitcherine of Soviet Russia, declared in a plea for general disarmament:

"Only by a policy of peace can the nations balance their budget."

He said Russia must insist upon reservations to the report of the financial commission of the conference as it carried provisions concerning the league of nations, which Russia did not recognize. He added that Russia could not agree to renounce government control over exchange operations.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED

Sir Laming Worthington-Evans presented the financial commission's report, which he termed as important to the world as was the Justinian code. Stabilizing of the purchasing power of gold could not be accomplished without American cooperation, he said.

The report, which was adopted, contains nineteen resolutions, among which is a recommendation that the Bank of England call a meeting of the central banks of issue to regulate credit policy and study currency reforms. The resolutions also urge an international financial convention to centralize and coordinate the demand for gold, which should be adopted as the standard for European currencies.

The report of the transport commission was adopted and then the session adjourned.

Richard Washburn Child, the American ambassador, was among the visitors at the session.

BELGIANS BOIT

Interest in the plenary session of the economic conference today was overshadowed by yesterday's developments when Belgium booted the sub-commission framing the final draft of the Russian memorandum and the French announced they were obliged to withhold final approval of the document until they heard from Paris.

The Belgians' action was because of their dissatisfaction with the clause in the memorandum dealing with the restoration of foreign owned property in Russia nationalized by the Soviet government.

OIL MONOPOLY

Oil was a live subject for discussion in conference circles today with everybody denying that anything definite had been done about disposing of Russia's big oil fields or granting monopolies for the distribution of the oil produced there.

M. Rakovsky, spokesman for the Russian Soviet delegation, declared that no contract had been signed with the Shell group of English oil companies as widely published, while Colonel Boyle, representative of the Shell Transport and Trading Company, issued a statement declaring it absolutely untrue that his company had made new contracts with the Russians.

On the other hand some delegations say they have information that important contracts have been signed and only need ratification by the Moscow government. These contracts are alleged to provide for a monopoly of the distribution of half and some say the whole, of Russia's oil output.

Business Plans Blocked by Jealousies, Cooley Declares

AID IN BATTLE IS SOUGHT

Defeat of Public Works Bureau Move Seen

NEW YORK — (Associated Press) — President Harding's plan for "more business in government and less government in business" is being blocked by the petty jealousies and conceits of men in high official positions, Mortimer E. Cooley, president of the American Engineering Council, asserted here today.

His statement followed a recent conference at the White House during which he tendered to the president his organizations' support in the movement to establish a department of public works.

Mr. Cooley who also is dean of the University of Michigan, in his plea to members of the engineering council, said:

"The president of the United States is endeavoring to formulate a program for reorganization of federal functions according to precepts that govern the efficient conduct of private business. He is following principles originally adopted in the movement of technical men of the country to secure a federal department of public works."

"The president's course was easy until he began to specify changes that should take place in the government to conform to these cardinal principles. He is now encountering opposition so strong and well supported that it is feared his efforts may be defeated, even as were the efforts of former Presidents Roosevelt and Taft along the same line. The president is, therefore, in need of the friendly assistance of those who have no prejudices, no self-seeking and who have no special purposes to serve."

LIKED BY CHILDREN

"Men in high official positions accustomed to handling large affairs prior to their official life and whom one would suppose to be above the petty jealousies and conceits of the average man, are now exhibiting jealousies and animosities that one might expect to come from a group of children quarreling over the distribution of sweets."

Various organizations of high repute led by men of high character are supporting these absurdities with an intensity almost unbelievable."

"The president in this instance ought not to be supported because he happens to be a Republican president, nor for any other reason than that he, too, is endeavoring to follow the truth wheresoever it leads with respect to government reorganization and he should be made fully to realize that in this effort he has the support of all impartial, right thinking men."

DARING BANDIT IS BEING SOUGHT

Bank Holdup May be Revenge for Killing of His Pal

PHOTOGRAPH IS RECOGNIZED

Checkup Shows Dime Savings Bank Loss $4,385.50

Has George McGahn taken his first revenge in Lima for the killing of his partner in crime, Raleigh Townsend, a year ago?

At least a part of the police department believe so. This desperate bank robber, participant in at least half a dozen spectacular gun battles, is believed to have been responsible for the daring daylight holdup of the Dime Savings bank, Tuesday.

One of the girls at the bank when the thug entered and drove four employees into a vault and escaped with almost $4,300 of the banks' funds, says the man who did the job strongly resembled the photograph of the notorious McGahn.

BELIEVES IT WAS M'GAHN

Policeman "Dick" Watkins, who with former Chief of Police Roush stood face to face with McGahn and Townsend in a South Side street a year ago and exchanged shots until Townsend was killed and McGahn, wounded, escaped by a hair, believes McGahn was the bank robber.

Watkins' only regret is that he missed the robbers by a few minutes at Columbus Grove, Tuesday. He was one of the searchers for the band after the robbery. Calling headquarters from a point eight miles east of Columbus Grove, he was informed that headquarters had a tip that the big Cadillac machine driven by the thugs had just passed thru West Cairo.

Watkins, riding a motorcycle, broke all speed records for that locality and arrived at Columbus Grove a few minutes after the trio had turned off near the village to avoid passing thru it. He tapped a wire to call Ottawa, but had trouble in getting connections and again missed the fleeing robbers by a narrow margin.

"If I had arrived at Columbus Grove in time," said Watkins, "and McGahn had been in the car, I realize that a battle would have followed. He would put up a fight anytime. I have exchanged bullets with him once and I would certainly like the opportunity of doing it again. If shooting were necessary, I would like nothing better than to take that bird," he added.

It was a bullet from Watkins' gun that killed Townsend.

THOUGHT REVENGE JOB

Strength is given the belief that McGahn planned the robbery here as a kind of revenge for Townsend's death by the reports that the gentleman-bandit has been seen here upon at least two occasions in the last few months.

The youth who drove McGahn in his commandeered delivery truck to Findlay after the historic gunning battle on the South Side a year ago, has declared that he saw McGahn driving on the South Side a short time ago.

An employee of one of the South Side shops who knew McGahn by sight when his band had headquarters in that neighborhood also has declared that he has seen the robber on Lima streets, within the last few months.

Chief of Police Lanker is working on every possible clue, among them being the one that McGahn, noted for his daring, came here and held up the bank or was one of the two in the waiting machine.

Those familiar with the history of this bandit are convinced that if he engineered the robbery, it was he who held up the bank. They say he is never found in the background when his hand pulls a job, but is the leader. He lives by the excitement of his daring and would not be content to allow a confederate to operate while he sat idly by. It is declared, if he runs true to form, he will not have long.

McGahn has always had headquarters in the northern part of Ohio. The flight of the thieves towards Toledo adds to the belief that it was he who staged the robbery.

McGahn and Townsend were members of the desperate gang which fought practically the entire populace of Bedford near Cleveland, more than a year ago when they endeavored to hold up a bank there. One or two thugs met death, Townsend received a bullet in his back, the scar of which was still plainly visible when he was killed here, but McGahn, lucky as usual, escaped apparently unharmed.

Partial identification which tends to prove that McGahn was the man who worked in Lima Tuesday, and got away with $4,385.50, was made by Miss Pauline Hurt, 793 S. Elizabeth.

A picture of McGahn, taken from files at the station was shown to her. She remarked that there is a strong resemblance between the picture and the man who robbed the bank. The three other employees were not so sure, but believe there are

PEGGY H. JOYCE'S SOUL BARED

Weeps Over Latest Victim Ending His Own Life

MANY TRAGIC LOVE AFFAIRS

Men of Four Continents at Ex-Actress' Feet

(BULLETIN)

PARIS — (United Press) — Peggy Hopkins Joyce today accidentally took an overdose of sleeping potion and was seriously ill at the Hotel Claridge, according to her maid.

(BY WEBB MILLER)

PARIS — (United Press) — "I liked to pull the strings. I liked to play with all of them. Now, I'm thru with men."

It was midnight in Peggy Hopkins Joyce's boudoir. The most famous vamp of modern times, for whose love two men are said to have killed themselves, who has been four times married and as many times divorced and who has accumulated fortunes totalling $3,000,000 in 12 years laid bare her soul. She wept because she couldn't tell the secret of her fatal fascination.

"I liked their admiration," Peggy cried. "It was life to me."

Ravishingly gowned in blue negligee, propped up in a bed frothy with lace and silk, the former show girl, divorced wife of Stanley Joyce, drank beer and brandy, "by the decorative orders of surgeons, my nerves," and smoked incessantly as she talked of her conquests of men and their many tragic endings.

DIDN'T MEAN RUIN

"I don't know why men run after me," the girl who has had the wealthiest and most influential men of four continents at her feet, declared in answer to a question.

"I cannot tell you the secret of my fascination."

"Never, no never, did I deliberately try to lure them into my net. I never meant to ruin their lives."

The latest of Peggy's victims, according to her claims, is Young William Errazuriz, Chilean youth, who shot himself in the rooms next to her suite on Sunday, because, according to Peggy, she refused to marry him.

The blow has changed her life, she said, speaking of the Chilean youth. "And now it's too late. I loved him but I played with him. I dangled him on a string, just as I did many others. Oh, why did I do it?"

WAY OF THE GAME

"I'm young. I'm in love with life. I ought to have been content with the man I loved and who loved me to distraction."

"But that's the way of the game. You play with them all and then you don't know where to stop. I loved the chase, to have them pursue me. I made Billy dance the same tune as the rest and now he's dead."

Peggy sat in her luxurious bed, a fetching figure despite her recent bereavement, and called to her maid to bring in her two tiny Poms. Then she made them romp and do tricks on the lacy coverlet, showing how one piked cigarette smoke and the other "just loved black coffee with a little brandy in it."

"See," she cried, gaily. "They are just like the men who love me. They do their tricks because I applaud them. They just ask my admiration, while I, I, I thrust out my beautiful arms in a descriptive gesture 'insist that they worship me.'"

"Peggy," as asked to tell what she considered kept the points of "wacky" men always at her feet.

"The secret of my charm? I cannot tell. Probably 'cleopatra' or those other women before me could not have told."

"Most men are attracted by my clothes, my jewels, my face, my person—some just because I'm Peggy Joyce. They don't care for the real me."

"I've learned my lesson," she declared, not too emphatically as her maid came in to tuck her in for the night and the interview closed.

"I'm thru playing with the men. My philosophy of life is changed. I'm going back to America and go into the movies."

SOUTH BECOMING NORMAL

Business Situation in Dixie Described for Forbes

GREAT CHANGE IS NOTED

Story of Recovery is Told by Memphis Editor

(BY B. C. FORBES)

NEW YORK — (Special) — Not many of us have opportunity to travel around and find out for ourselves how the rest of the world is living. The next best thing to going is to chat with people who come from other parts of the country.

It is pleasant for one tied rather closely to New York to meet and talk with people from other parts of the land, because, to be perfectly frank, these other people nearly always have more courteous manners than busy New Yorkers and seem more ready to take the time to sit down for a talk about what's going on. I have found, too, that men from other places, particularly those not living in very large cities, are more disposed to gentility, humor and laughter. They seem to be better friends with themselves, with everybody else, and the world in general.

I had the good fortune the other day to run into George Morris, editor of the Memphis News-Scimitar, who makes a habit of traveling around once in a while to keep posted. Of course, I wanted to know, from a man on the ground and in intimate touch with conditions, how things are heading in the south. You will, I am sure, find his talk interesting, illuminating and heartening.

"This morning," said Mr. Morris, in reply to my quizzing, "I got on one of your mysterious and fearfully and wonderfully made subways downtown to go to my hotel on 51st-st. By mistake, I took the express and before I knew it, I was at 86th-st. I thought I was getting ahead fine long after I had passed my destination. But, of course, I made real progress only when I started back."

"My dilemma this morning describes the situation in the South yesterday and today. Yesterday the south was going forward rapidly, today, it is making progress going back. It is going backwards towards its destination slow, but thank heavens it is no longer rushing forward heedlessly. I mean to say, we are becoming normal. We were demoralized by high priced cotton and high priced labor. Our planters moved to town and operated their places by telephone. They had no seed in their hair and no trace of the banyard on their boots; they were recognized not by the corns in their hands, but by the diamonds on their fingers. If the situation had continued, I am sure every plow by this time would be equipped with a radio outfit and an afternoon entertainment would be a feature of every day's work. "Things have changed. We have gone back to a diet of salt bacon, sorghum and turnip greens, which is not bad for the digestion. This spring we sharpened our old plow points, placed out our plow lines, and went to work to produce a cheap crop. No matter what it brings, there will be a profit in it. It is amusing how little a farmer can get along on when he can't get all he wants. The situation is directly opposite what it was two years ago, when we produced a rotten crop on the theory that it would bring from fifty cents to one dollar a pound—and selling time found us without a market or any demand.

"But these things are more incidents in our life. I wish our section were better understood. It would be a revelation if the people of other sections could appreciate its marvelous recuperative power. I am not a professional Southerner; therefore, I do not attribute it to the people, but to the soil.

"We do not take all the prizes but our cattle, our wine and horses rank with the best in the national show. There is no section superior for grazing; our hogs are as fine as those in Illinois; wheat is grown as successfully as in Nebraska, a Mississippi boy held the United States record in the production of corn per acre. If there is ever a convention of amateur distillers, the South, I am sure, will win new laurels and add what some but no all would call new glory to its fame.

"What we need most is new recruits, we need men with capital to develop our industries and farmers to till our soil. The trouble with some of our people is that they are too much like Sam's mule which he purchased from Moses with the assurance that it was sound in all respects. A few days later Sam called on Moses and complained that the mule was blind, that when he turned the mule into the lot it ran into trees and fences and any object that happened to be in his way. 'That mule,' said Moses 'ain't blind, he just don't give a d—'."

"But we are securing some valuable acquisitions. Many Northern and Eastern capitalists are interesting themselves in our resources. One of the largest planters in Arkansas is former Governor Lowden, of Illinois. The largest cotton producer in the world is a former citizen of Michigan, who operates thousands of acres in Mississippi. Paul Block, of New York, who has extensive newspaper interests is another who has turned his attention to the South and I am sure that his genius will be reflected in the service that he will render that section and ample returns for himself.

PITTSBURG PARTY RETURNS HERE

C. C. Members in City Wednesday, En Route to Findlay

Members of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce who visited Lima Tuesday afternoon, were here again Wednesday morning, returning from Ft. Wayne, where they spent the night. Their train was transferred to the L. E. & W. railroad, for a trip to Findlay and other points north.

Every movement of the entertainment program planned for the 150 members of the Pittsburgh men during their visit here Tuesday afternoon was executed as planned, Mayor Harold Cunningham said Wednesday.

Twice as many automobiles as were needed appeared at the Erie station and more than 150 Lima business men were present at the reception at the Elks home from 1:40 to 2:20 p. m.

Following the turning over of the keys of the city to the visitors by Mayor Cunningham, a short address of welcome was given by Walter Jackson.

Response was made by M. A. Kendall, Pittsburgh banker, in which he urged Lima business men to emphasize the Golden Rule in their business and serve the city by actively cooperating with the commercial clubs and organizations.

A quartette designated as the "Golden Rule Four" brought down the house with its songs. The crowd would not let them go even tho' the time for the automobile tour of the city had arrived.

Photographs of the visitors and Lima business men gathered in front of the Elks home and of industrial plants in the city were taken and will be shown here later at one of the local theaters.

Everyone of the visitors expressed himself very much impressed by the welcome given the delegation and the fine treatment received at the hands of the Lima chamber of commerce.

A few minutes was spent by the party in Lima Wednesday morning while the special train was being transferred to the L. E. & W. railroad, for the trip to Findlay.

some points of likeness between the two men.

Chief Thomas A. Lanker is inclined to scout the theory, but said that he is looking into it, just as he is looking into every other possible angle in the case.

FEW POLICE KNOW MCGAHN

Unfortunately, none of the few police officers on the force who know McGahn, got a glimpse of the bandit who was here Tuesday.

None of the pedestrians who saw the bandit emerge from the bank knew McGahn.

Business was resumed at the bank within an hour after the robbery. Ira E. Wagner, president, stated Wednesday.

The loss, which has been officially computed at $4,385.59, is covered by insurance. An adjuster is due to reach Lima Wednesday to go over the matter with bank officials. Of the amount stolen $4,231, belonged to the bank and $154.59 to the Wagner Loan Co.

"Neither the bank nor its depositors will lose a penny," declared Wagner. "Our insurance policies protect the bank and the depositors, so there can be no loss."

"We want to commend the police for prompt attention and effort to round up the bandits. I also want to say that our employees acted just right, and I want to commend them for not risking their lives unnecessarily."

Finger prints left by the robber on the glass counter, drawer handles and the vault door have been photographed. Foot prints made when the man climbed over the partition, have been also photographed.

Belief was expressed by employees of the bank Wednesday that the one shot fired by the man as he vaulted over the partition was unintentional and not with the idea of frightening them.

Considerable physical effort was required to get over the top, if it is pointed out, and carrying the automatic in his hand, it could easily be discharged accidentally.

About $4,000 at the first and second windows was overlooked. Part of the money was lying on the counter and the remainder in money drawers, partly open. About $17,000 in cash was in the bank, Wagner said. The bulk of the amount was in the vault.

How the bandit missed the money at the first and second windows and took only that at the third is a mystery to the four employees who watched his operations thru the barred door of the vault.

The man passed within two feet of the money several times during his brief visit, they state. The first time was when he retreated toward the front of the bank and rifled drawers in a cabinet against the wall.

Then he went toward the partition, keeping the two men and two girls in the vault covered with the gun. He passed by the money at the front windows, paused to get that at the third window and then approached the vault.

After forcing Mills to hand out the $2,000 packet, and ineffectually trying to close the vault door, the bandit backed out along the counter to the front of the bank, passing the money, lying in the counter and in the drawers for the third time. PHONE WIRES NOT CUT

No attempt was made by the crook to cut telephone wires and his oversight enabled the bank people to get police on the trail at once.

Failure of the bank to have a grating over the counter, extending to the ceiling, is explained by Eugene Lippincott, a director.

"Those things are out of date," he said. "It might have kept this man out and it might not. He could still have shot thru the partition, or forced the employees to let him inside."

A wire screen is no defense, when an army of five or six gunmen come. "We carry adequate insurance and that is the best protection."

Lippincott believes that four men participated in the robbery; that one man pulled the job; one handled the car and two men were on the sidewalk.

Others may have been in the vicinity, to cover the getaway.

The bullet fired from the bandit's automatic, as he straddled the partition, was found on the bank floor flattened, Tuesday night.

After striking the wall it caromed off and hit the front of the steel and concrete vault and rebounded back thru the office 15 feet to the floor.

Altho police and many others believe the job was the work of an old hand, Prosecuting Attorney Lippincott and County Detective Roy Bowersock, assert, the job is the work of a comparatively young crook.

NO WEAPONS IN VAULT

They point to his neglect to ascertain if there were weapons in the vault. Had this been true, he might have been picked off. Anyway, they hold he took a chance in this respect that a more experienced crook might not have taken.

The fact that the man ransacked drawers of the cabinet at the wall indicates an unfamiliarity with bank interiors, Lippincott and Bowersock say.

The 'time spent in futile search at the cabinet, they say, betrayed a weakness in his plan of action.

Police officers confess they are more or less at sea in their hunt for the bandits and the bandit car. Incomplete descriptions given by citizens have not helped matters very much as they do not tally with each other, Chief Lanker says.

Several times Tuesday afternoon police officers believed they were close to the fleeing bandits, but at no time were they able to catch up with them and discover if the car they were chasing carried the bank thieves.

Frank Kinzer, traffic officer at High and Main-sts, was one of the first officers to give chase. In a commandeered Oldsmobile he chased the fleeing car down South Main-st. TRAIN HALTS PURSUIT

Citizens directed him in his pursuit and it is believed that they would have caught up with the bandits had not an L. E. & W. railroad freight train pulled in between them and their quarry. By the time Kinzer was able to get past the freight train the automobile had vanished.

All the roads south of Lima were scoured by Kinzer but no trace of the bandits' car could be found and the search finally had to be abandoned.

Kinzer is the officer who shot Crawford Baker last October and who played a prominent part in the capture of the McGahn gang here last summer.

While scouring the roads north of Lima Dick Watkins, motorcycle officer, believes he narrowly missed the bandits at Columbus Grove. Citizens assert that a speeding Cadillac sedan passed near the village just a few minutes before Watkins appeared.

No trace of the automobile beyond Columbus Grove could be found and it is believed that if it was the hunted car, it doubled back again and headed in another direction. From reports reaching police it is believed that a well planned route was followed by the robbers.

BURGLAR ALARM NEEDED

If a burglar alarm system, connected with the police station, had been in operation Tuesday noon the bandits who held up the Lima Dime Savings Bank would now be in the custody of the police, Thomas A. Lanker, chief of police, believes.

Within a minute and a quarter after the call was received at the police station an emergency squad was at the bank ready to hunt down the robbers, Chief Lanker says.

Quick as the officers were in responding to the call, they were not quick enough to obtain a view of the bandits and their car. A minute earlier and they would have been able to see the men who held up the bank and the car they escaped in, Lanker believes.

A system for the protection of Lima banks has been proposed, but such banks have held out and forced it to be delayed. The last bank agreed to the plans a week or two ago, C. A. Bingham, city manager said Wednesday.

This plan calls for rayings and secret buttons within the bank, connected directly with the police station. The moment a holdup man would enter a bank the alarm would be sounded at the police station and an emergency squad sent out immediately, Bingham says.

There would be no loud ringing of bells to warn the robbers that an alarm had been sent in. Their first intimation of it would be when armed policemen would rush in on them while at work, Bingham explained.

If such a system had been in force Tuesday the robber of the Dime Savings Bank would have been caught while looting the money drawers, Bingham believes.

It is expected by city officials that the robbery of the Dime Savings Bank will hasten the installation of burglar alarms, connected with the police station, in all banks and money handling offices of the city.

D. T. & I. ADDS MORE MEN AND LOCOMOTIVES; BUSINESS IS BETTER

One hundred men have been added to the extra gangs ballasting the D. T. & I. Railroad, according to announcement from Napoleon, where is located heads of departments of this district.

The D. T. & I. is preparing to handle a large volume of business on the road during May, officials say. Last week 18 brakemen were promoted to the position of conductors and at the first of this week 15 firemen were made engineers.

Every available engine on the road is now working full time. Business has increased to such an extent during the month that the road is short on motive power, say officials.

Twenty-five locomotives used by the government during the war, are being rebuilt. May is expected to be the busiest month in the history of the D. T. & I. in the opinion of officials.

OHIOAN PICKED TO PROBE FRAUDS

McCullough to Investigate Sherman and Grant Cases

WASHINGTON — (United Press) — Prosecution of persons involved in Camp Sherman construction frauds likely will follow appointment of former Congressman Roscoe McCullough, of Canton, as special assistant to Attorney General Daugherty, especially charged with prosecution of cantonment frauds.

McCullough was one of the Republican congressmen who made the investigation of Camp Sherman and Grant, Illinois. In a long report he urged vigorous prosecutions by the government.

Daugherty expressed opinion that the statute of limitations has not expired and that government efforts will not be balked. McCullough will take charge of work heretofore done by special agents of the department of justice.

Daugherty expressed "most implicit confidence in McCullough's integrity and ability," and said "his selection for this work insures a bonafide thoro, non-partisan investigation with results to the government as satisfactory as human agency can produce."

Selection of McCullough not only indicates belated action on Camp Sherman frauds, but it also has Ohio political significance. McCullough's elimination as a gubernatorial candidate is expected to prove helpful to Carmi Thompson.

In announcing the appointment Daugherty said he waited for two months for McCullough to decide whether he would make a second race for governor.

INJUNCTION REFUSED IN UNION CAR STRIKE

STEUERVILLE — On the grounds that their contract with the Steuerville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction Company is legally a contract terminable on May 1, Judge Carl Smith in common pleas court here today refused members of local union number 235 a temporary injunction to restrain the company from abrogating the contract and locking them out.

The court, however, continued a restraining order under which cars are now being operated in this city and Jefferson-co, for a period of two weeks pending court of appeals proceedings by the carmen.

The employees are fighting to retain their union which the company refuses to recognize contend that in lieu of a new wage agreement, their old contract is binding for another year.

GRAND-AV PAVING FUND SOUGHT

O. E. Receiver Asks Authority to Expend $6,880

AGREEMENT IN FARE GRANT

Illness of Judge Killits Halts Court Action

Permission to spend $6,880.25 for the paving of 1302 feet of tracks in Grand-av in this city was asked by the Ohio Electric railway, thru its receiver, B. J. Jones, in the Toledo federal court Wednesday.

It was stated in the order, presented to Federal Judge John M. Killits, that $7,843.70 more would be needed to pay for paving, made obligatory by the franchise of the company.

FARE AGREEMENT

Right to charge a seven-cent fare during the next six months was granted the street railway company by the city commission upon condition that the company's share in the Grand-av paving be paid.

At the time the franchise was granted the city was assured that there would be no opposition in the court to spending the money for this purpose and that the company would carry out its part of the agreement immediately.

Illness of Judge Killits, necessitating his removal to a hospital, made it impossible for him to sign the order Wednesday. It is understood, however, that the order will be issued as soon as he is well enough to take care of it.

Paving of Grand-av will now be completed, City Manager C. A. Bingham said Wednesday. The only thing holding back the work is the inability of the street railway company to do its share.

IMPROVEMENT DELAYED

Work has been held back somewhat because residents along the street objected to the new paving to be laid until the new sewer had been given sufficient time to settle.

A year ago, just after the sewer was installed, the paving was started and stopped because residents said the ground had not settled and that it would sink under any paving laid. This objection has been removed, city officials say.

OSER SURPRISED

PARIS — (Associated Press) — Max Oser is surprised at the failure of Miss Mathilde McCormick, his fiancée, to answer his cable messages and disappointed because she did not appear in Zurich last month when he expected her, according to a Zurich dispatch to the Herald. The former riding master declines, however, to discuss reports of an estrangement with John D. Rockefeller's grand-daughter, to whom he became engaged prior to her departure from Switzerland a few months ago.

Oser said he had addressed several messages to the Lake Shore home of the McCormick family in Chicago, but had received no reply. He believed, however, that this might be due to the fact that Miss Mathilde was at present travelling in Virginia.

MISS MCCORMICK AT HOME

CHICAGO — (Associated Press) — Miss Mathilde McCormick has returned from her eastern trip and is awaiting the return of her father, Harold F. McCormick, from New York. It was said at the McCormick town home today. The secretary said she had no knowledge of any cablegrams being received here from Max Oser.

SUNDAY SCHOOL GROWTH REQUIRES ADDITION TO PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

An addition to the Market-st Presbyterian church has been made necessary by the increase in the attendance at the Sunday school services, Rev. Samuel Huecker has announced.

Membership in the Men's Bible class has increased 500 per cent during the past few months and the general school attendance has mounted more than 30 per cent, Rev. Huecker said.

Only a temporary structure will be erected, as members of the church are planning a new edifice within the next year or so. It will be two stories and will be used for Sunday school class rooms and the general work of the church. Its cost will be about $5,000.

A general competition between the Sunday schools of the county has resulted in greatly increased attendance at various schools, but this is the first church which has been compelled to increase the size of the edifice to accommodate the new members, Sunday school leaders say.

A special campaign for pig club and clothing club members will be launched among Spencer-tp boys and girls at a meeting of the farm bureau to be held in Spencerville Thursday night.

Reports by leaders in each of these groups will be heard and plans laid to get the clubs under way immediately. Very encouraging prospects are noted by Ridge as to interest being shown in this work.

Representation at the health demonstration to be held in Lima May 9 will also be taken up at this meeting. It is planned to have a large number of women attend the meeting here. Plans for demonstrations in school districts will also be discussed.

ATTACK COLLINS' MENTAL STATE

Defense in Fight For Big Estate Springs Surprise

Testimony calculated to prove Samuel Collins of unsound mind at the time when he executed a codicil to his will in 1919 was introduced in the Collins will case in common pleas court by the defense Wednesday.

The ability of Dorothy Collins' counsel to refute this line of evidence may depend whether or not she will win one-third of the estate valued at $250,000.

The property for which the 24-year-old girl is fighting to wrest from Perry C. Collins, her uncle, includes real estate in the heart of Lima and fertile farm lands. The First National bank building and the Sigma Theater site are a part of the estate.

Witnesses who had known Samuel Collins during his life time, especially during his last years, were placed on the stand.

Little material evidence to show that Collins was unsound of mind was brought out by the first witnesses who testified.

Their testimony in this regard was affected by other facts brought out on cross examination. More than a half score of witnesses had not been on the stand at noon Wednesday.

The trial has progressed but slowly and may not be finished before Thursday noon.

RED AND GREEN LIGHTS PLANNED FOR "STOP AND GO" TRAFFIC SIGNALS

Installation of red and green lights on the "stop and go" signals used by traffic policemen will be tried out in the near future, C. A. Bingham, city manager, has announced.

Under the New York plan, being considered by the city, all street crossings will be controlled from one central tower by means of gongs and different colored lights.

This will not do away with traffic officers, it is understood, but it will facilitate traffic by causing it to move in one direction at a time all along a busy street.

Under this plan traffic will be moving north and south on all parts of Main-st at the same time, and stoppages from cross traffic will be made contemporaneously at all intersections. This will speed up traffic, it is believed.

For the present red and green lights will be used in the evenings by the traffic officers so that automobile drivers will be able to see whether the signal reads stop or go. They will be installed as soon as the material is at hand, officials say.

SLAYER PIENING SEEKS NEW TRIAL AT WAPAK

WAPAKONETA — Motion for a new trial in the case of Charles Piening, convicted of first degree murder in the killing of Rev. Richard Schweitzer, Minister Catholic priest, is to be argued here Thursday, it is announced.

Should Judge F. C. Layton deny the motion offered by his son, R. E. Layton, attorney for Piening, it is expected that the prisoner will be sentenced to die in the electric chair, after an opportunity has been given counsel for the prisoner to appeal to higher court, if desired.

Piening summoned Rev. Schweitzer to his home in Minister the night of February 14 and shot him to death, after making an attempt to kill his brother, John B. Piening.

THE WOMAN OF POISE

Once a rarity, is now to be observed and admired upon every hand. Indeed, no other woman can flourish long in the midst of this modern, complicated life. In the home, in business, in social life, the woman who is serene and confident wins, while the nervous, flustered individual wastes her talents and gets nowhere. Of course, poise is dependent mainly upon sound health and steady nerves. If you feel that you are being kept back in this way, why not turn to that great woman's remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which was manufactured from a thorough understanding of the nervous system of women.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Fermentation, Sour, Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic, just try the effect of a little Bisulphated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate, or milk, but the pure Bisulphated Magnesia which you can obtain from practically any drugist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous harmful acid in the stomach which causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little Bisulphated Magnesia immediately after a meal, you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to the stomach. Moreover, the continued use of the pure Bisulphated Magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as you are free from symptoms of acid indigestion.

Be sure to get the Keller formula, Lithiated Buchu, acts on the bladder and bladder like Epsom Salts, and helps to relieve the bladder of abnormal tension. The tablets cost so much in the price makes it possible to place the formula several extensive drug stores, which are useful for relief. The formula is on the package. It is likely you have seen it somewhere. Try a few doses for backache, scalding, urinary or high colored urine and frequent desire at night.

Be sure to get the Keller formula, Lithiated Buchu, at Hunter's & Sons Stores and drug stores everywhere, or write The Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio—Adv.

The manufacturer advises us that his prices now are lower than they will be this Fall because it will give him slack season to tailor the furs.

No deposit is required, nor will payments be necessary until the coat is delivered next Fall. Simply make your selection now and the coat will be ready at the beginning of the season.

The advantages of buying tomorrow and Friday are that the furrier will take your measurements so you get the correct size; you have the manufacturers' complete line to select from, and are assured of a decidedly lower price.

These Coats are to be made up from the choicest pelts of animals caught the past winter. The first Coats are made from the best skins and the less choice skins are used in later tailoring.

How to Make Rhubarb Jam

Delicious and Healthful
By Ann Proctor

Rhubarb jam made according to the following recipe is one of the most delicious things you have ever tasted. Children and "grown-ups" go wild over it and it is so good for them.

To make eleven 8-ounce glasses of rhubarb jam:—
Cut the rhubarb into short lengths, without peeling, and shred by putting thru grinder or chopping very fine. Put 4 leveled cups (2 lbs.) of shredded rhubarb and its juice and 8 leveled cups (2 1/2 lbs.) of sugar into a preserving kettle, mix well and bring to a vigorous boil stirring constantly, and let boil 3 minutes. Remove from fire and add 1 bottle (scent cup) Certo while stirring. Let stand one minute, skim and pour into glasses. Certo, the pure concentrated jelly-making principle of fruit, contains no gelatine or preservative and is obtainable at all grocers and druggists. If your grocer or druggist is out of stock, he can get it quickly for you from his jobber.

The above recipe and 100 others for making delicious jellies and jams by the "Certo Process" is found in the Certo Book of Recipes, a copy of which comes with every bottle of Certo. Extra copies will be sent free if you write to the Potin Sales Company, Inc., 105 East Avenue, Rochester, N. Y.
Important: Use Certo this year in making all your jams and jellies. They will keep splendidly. Certo always saves time, worry and boiling. The Certo Process never fails, and is economical because you make half as much more jam from the same amount of fruit.

YEGGS TURN TO LIMA

THIS city has been fortunate for years, in that yeggmen refrained from pulling off jobs of any consequence here. However, fancied security proved to be a mistaken idea.

Like troubles which come when least expected, bank bandits strike when all thoughts of those who form the objective. When a lone bandit walked into the Dime Savings Bank here Tuesday at 12:40 p. m., it was at a time when the mid-day quiet prevailed.

Operations were timed so that the blow might be struck when there were no customers in the bank to interfere. It was quickly done, without a great deal of excitement and no one was hurt. By the time the victims of the robbers were able to recover from the first shock and before the populace could be apprised of the incident and pursuit begun by the police, the bandits, in a high speed car were able to make a good start in a getaway.

Bandits always have the advantage up to a certain point, at least. As in any sort of race, a handicap is worth a lot. Their plans are carefully laid in advance. They stand a good opportunity of getting away unless their program worked out in advance goes wrong somewhere. It is the unexpected that works disaster for yeggmen.

Lima has been fortunate in the past. Tuesday's experience will result in more extraordinary precautions than ever before being taken to cope with incidents of that sort.

Banks are the objective of thieves, constantly. Depositors are protected against loss from their depredations, however, by insurance provided by the bankers.

THE AIR YOU OWN

DO YOU own the air above your property? The common law says, yes—that the land owner owns everything above as well as beneath his piece of land.

When flying machines become common, will property owners post "No trespassing" signs? Griggs, founder of the American Flying Club, fears so.

He tells aerial experts that Congress will have to amend the law before cautious capital will invest enough money to develop aviation as it should be.

Sensible land owners will be satisfied, provided they are safeguarded against planes falling on their heads and homes.

YOUTHFUL DESPERADOES

IT is an occasion for serious reflection as one contemplates the growth of crime among youth of the land. Police and court records show that the greater percent of crime in these latter days is being committed by mere youths.

They are not accomplished criminals, but mere embryos for the most part in their desperate work, but they take more chances than those who are schooled in crime thru long years of practice. Porch climbers, bank robbers, pickpockets, holdup workers among the older habitués are passing out. Their ranks are being filled and greatly augmented by mere youths.

The records of Allen-co criminal courts tell a sorry tale. Pages of the police blotter add to the sum total. Not all criminals are caught—not at first. But eventually they fall into the coils of the law. They can't get away with it. Retribution will come sooner or later.

At this very moment four mere boys of this city are under charges of robbery, ranging from stealing of autos to the raiding of stores and a railroad ticket office. Their confessions lay bare a long list of crime. They "got by" for a time, but the blow fell, as it always does. They must now pay.

Curbing crime is not altogether a police measure. It is a problem for society to solve. The young are quick to see the hypocrisy that is practiced by all too many representatives of the human family. They become perverted mentally, getting a mistaken idea of the eternal fitness of things. The inevitable is a career of crime—then comes retribution.

WAR IN CHINA

CHINESE armies battle along a 130-mile front. It is a real battle, with airplanes and artillery.

No American pays much attention to it, because the Chinese are fighting among themselves. It would be another story if the bullets were coming our way.

It was different 1500 years ago, when an army of 20,000,000 Chinese pushed westward thru Europe, to be defeated and driven back at the Marne.

That excursion has almost vanished from our histories. But the impression it made on our ancestors still runs in our blood as an instinctive fear of the Yellow Peril.

ABE MARTIN

"Circuses are just beginnin' I do! the things they had pictures of on their show bills over fifty years ago. Now days folks see in theater house nowadays if they've got money enough to buy regular seat some passengers sailing on an American boat. An unusual sight, they say hereabouts. To lunch then at The Bivouac, to study Greenwich Village super-types. Then to Romano Marres' for a pot of Turkish coffee. Tried again, always an interesting experiment, to start over Brooklyn Bridge and try to come back. It can't be done, without going to Brooklyn first. So, I went to Brooklyn and lost a valuable half-hour. Into the Vanderbilt, a handy place for a subway paragon on the East Side. And had a city hair cut by a barber from Hicksville, Ohio. And a shine by a Manhattanite from Piqua. A metropolitan tang, you know.

The Yellow Taxi made a hit here as it did in Lima. Now all the independents have painted their Fords yellow and black. So you get a Yellow every time. Took one to see John Ham, the Castoria man, who makes babies cry for it. And they are drinking more of it every month.

To dinner in the Waldorf ballroom, the Saint Cecilia quartette and the great pipe organ opening the services, and a jazz band concluding them. Eugene Kelly, of Sioux City, wanted to know where Gene Eppley made all his money. And I told him. It's a deep secret, but Gene got it going to market himself at 5 a. m. And Charlie Motz, of Cincinnati, asked if Jimmie Hefner was still peddling papers. And pleased he was when informed Jimmie is now an editor for the Lima Auto Club. The drinking got noisier, or nosier, when the toast-master presented the Hon. G. M. Hitchcock, whom Nebraska sends as one of her senators, and who endeavored to explain his proposed International Bank. Some 75 percent preferred re-inforced White Sox and their own voices.

The statistical revue failed utterly to amuse, but the concreted water seemed a wonderful antidote. Thence came John W. Ellwood, head of the Radio Corporation, and like the Ft. Wayne electrician at the Rotary Club banquet to Sir Harry Lauder, explained it all. But the goldarn radio coasters went on strike, and a phonograph record was the best we got. Seymour L. Cromwell, President of the Stock Exchange, took up the battle. And brot the White Rock devotees back for a moment. Failures on the Big Board were less than one-half of one percent for its entire existence, since 1792. And that's as far as he can remember.

Mr. Boomer had only a light repast for his guests, with a grapefruit, cream of celery with toasties (not Posts), escallop of sole, potatoes Hollandaise, sweetbreads and green peas saute. Breast of chicken, hearts of lettuce, ice cream and French pastry, and the inevitable demitasse. We went to Jacques for breakfast. So to bed.

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well

THE MEDICINE CABINET

Is yours an up-to-date medicine cabinet? Has it all the necessary drugs and appliances to cope with emergencies and accidents? In every home a few first-aid materials should be kept. It is best that they be kept in a cabinet, as otherwise they would get lost or be unavailable in time of need.

The following drugs and materials are suggested for the up-to-date home medicine cabinet.

Alcohol, two ounces.

Aromatic spirits of ammonia (rubber cork) two ounces.

Castor oil, two ounces, two bottles.

Sedlitz powders, 12 in box.

Mustard, powdered, two ounces.

Syrup of ginger, two ounces.

Syrup of ipecac, two ounces.

Five-grain bismuth subnitrate tablets, 50 in bottle.

Carbolated petrolatum, one tube.

Boric acid, one ounce.

One bottle soda mint tablets, 50 in bottle.

One-gram bottle oil of cloves, labeled poison.

One small package antiseptic gauze.

One tin talcum powder.

One-quarter pound absorbent cotton.

Six gauze roller bandages, three large, three small.

Two Red Cross first-aid outfits.

One small bottle colodion with brush.

One box tooth plasters.

One box corn plasters.

One sharp knife.

One pair scissors.

One clinical thermometer.

Pins, common and safety.

In such a cabinet should be placed also any medicine prescribed by the family physician. After such medicines have served their purpose, however, the only place for them is the trash pile. Intended for only a particular case of illness, they may be dangerous for anything else.

SPEAKING OF READING
Like the tale of the "open trail,"
The kind where the "men are men,"
Where the bad men clash and the six-guns flash
And each bar is a slaughter-pen;
I like the villains who wade in "killin's"
Till the hero shoots 'em dead—
The bloody, gory, galloping story
Where every page runs red.

I like the girl who is in a whirl
Of perils and dangers vast,
Who thinks the hero a social zero,
Yet marries the kid at last;
I like the twang of the western slang
And the lure of the old frontier
Where the "100 per cent Americans" went
In the stories of yesteryear!

I like the fights where they doused the lights
As they heaped the dead in a mound,
Where each of the clan was a two-gun man
With a private burying ground;
I like a tale of that kind because
It brings to my mind again
The west as it probably never was
But possibly might have been!

RESULTS WERE A BIG SURPRISE STATES NURSE

Had to Have Something to Pull Her Through When Near Collapse From Overwork—Chose

Tanlac And Was Fully Restored, She Says.

Mrs. A. J. Mercer, 655 Neave St., Cincinnati, Ohio, a practical nurse for twenty years, has given the following interesting statement about Tanlac:

"I suffered a nervous shock from an accidental death in my family, then found it necessary for me to earn a living for my three children. I reentered the ranks of practical nurses and worked so hard I was on the verge of a collapse. My nerves were shattered, I had no appetite, ate only from necessity and suffered from insomnia. My work was a burden and I saw I had to get myself built up.

"I began taking Tanlac and improved almost from the first. It was really surprising the way I began to pick up. I gained ten pounds and my work is much easier. My son seems to have malaria and I gave him Tanlac. His improvement also was most gratifying. We got such good results I am glad to give this testimonial."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—Adv.

deposits. They gum the teeth, get between the teeth, and often ferment and form acids.
It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is Nature's neutralizer for acids which cause decay.
Thus every use gives multiplied power to these two great tooth-protecting agents in the mouth.

For beauty's sake

Film removal means prettier teeth. Film-coats make teeth dingy. So every lover of glistening teeth should combat that film daily.

The results will delight you and convince you. Present the coupon for the 10-Day Tube. Start its use tonight. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. The normal alkaline mouth, following every use, is most refreshing.

See and feel these results for ten days. Then look at your teeth in your mirror. Then you will know what this new method means to you and yours. Cut out the coupon so you won't forget.

He Will Say

"Fight those film-coats on your teeth"

Leading dentists, nearly all the world over, now urge a new method of teeth cleaning. Millions of people already employ it. You see the results everywhere today, in whiter, cleaner teeth.

This is for those who don't know it as yet. We offer a ten-day test. You will then see the unique results and decide what they mean to you.

The war on film

One great object is to fight the film on teeth. You can feel it now—a viscous film. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. And it forms the basis for dingy, dangerous coats.

Ordinary tooth pastes do not effectively combat it. So millions of teeth brushed daily still discolor and decay.

Film absorbs stains, making white teeth cloudy. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Film constantly breeds germs. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Thus most tooth troubles are now traced to film.

How to fight it daily

Dental science has now found two effective film combatants. Able authorities have proved them by many careful tests.

A new tooth paste has been perfected, to comply with five modern requirements. The name is Pepsodent. These two great film combatants are embodied in it.

Careful people of some forty races now employ it daily, largely by dental advice. You will also do so when you know how much it does.

Brings other effects

Pepsodent brings two other effects which authorities now desire.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch

FIGHT IS PLANNED ON CORN BORER

Farmers Seek to Keep Pest Out of This County

IS BROUGHT FROM EUROPE

Makes New Appearance in Ohio Lake District

A determined fight will be made this summer to keep the European corn borer out of Allen-co. H. J. Ridge, county farm agent, has announced.

Farmers in all parts of the county have been notified to inform the Farm Bureau immediately should they find the corn borer operating in their neighborhood.

This parasite was first discovered in Massachusetts, where it had been brought in shipments of corn from Europe, Ridge says. Many thousands of dollars have been spent by the government of that state in an attempt to eradicate it.

PEST APPEARS AGAIN

For a while it was thought that the borer had been controlled, but it has appeared again, this time along the southern shore of Lake Erie. From this point it threatens the whole middle western corn belt.

It is not known exactly how the parasite got its start along the lake. It is believed by some that the pupae were brought over from Canada in fodder floating on the lake surface, Ridge says.

A strict quarantine has been instituted by the federal government and all shipments of corn or fodder from the affected counties have been stopped.

Special investigators have been placed in the affected areas by the government to study the work of the corn destroyer and it is hoped that a method of prevention will be arrived at before another year has passed around.

Eggs are laid on the corn leaves and stalks by a moth in the early springtime after the corn has started growing. Shortly afterward the eggs hatch out and the larvae start their deadly work.

Lines of least resistance are followed by the larvae and they eat whatever part of the stalk or leaf which may confront them. This kills the stalk or weakens it to such an extent that an extra strong gust of wind will blow it over.

In the fall the larvae turn into pupae and in the spring the cycle is completed when the pupae turn into moths and lay eggs among the growing corn plants.

SILO KILLS PUPAE

Where silos are used to a great extent the corn borer does not make much headway as the pupae are destroyed each year by the acids within the silo. This will in time kill off most of the destroyers.

A complete study of the corn borer is being made in Sandusky-co by federal agents and the results of their survey are being distributed to farm agents in adjoining counties.

Farmers are urged to be on the lookout for any indications that the corn borer is working in Allen-co. They must not mistake the work of the chinch bug with that of the corn borer, Ridge warns.

If Allen-co can be kept free of this pest many thousands of dollars will be saved to farmers. Once a start is gotten, however, its eradication will be almost impossible, it is believed.

BODY FOUND IN RIVER IDENTIFIED BY FATHER

CINCINNATI — The body of the young man with feet and hands bound with rope and wire and a bullet wound in the head which was found floating in an eddy in the Ohio river in Ludlow, Ky., opposite here last night was today identified as that of Stephen Soldertis, 21, an automobile mechanic, who lived at Peru, Ohio, near Cincinnati. The identification of the body was made by his father. The father first identified the shoes and trousers which were found on the body, the rest of the apparel having been removed apparently by the murderer of the young man. Soldertis left his home a week ago last Saturday.

RAIN IS BOON TO VEGETATION

Farmers are grateful for the rainfall of Tuesday night. It was badly needed and will help vegetation in its battle for perfect growth and full fruition later on in the production of crops.

Mostly cloudy tonight and Thursday. Not much change in temperature. Probable showers. Long range forecasts for this particular day and for the morrow indicate clear and fair, but the prediction is far from being borne out in actuality.

Farmers are interested in making a survey of fruit crop prospects, following visitation of heavy frosts. In some quarters the state of feeling is most dubious, despite the fact that first reports from this section of Ohio indicated very little damage to opening buds.

Ted was caught in the downpour last night and was not in an amiable mood after its cessation during the morning, with continued cloudy conditions.

SLAYS WIFE, THEN KILLS SELF

R. G. Dun Manager's Home is Scene of Tragedy

NEWTON, Mass. — (Associated Press) — Explanation. other than insanity, of the tragedy in which William B. Powell, manager in the Boston district for R. G. Dun and Company, shot and killed his wife and himself last night was still lacking today. A coroner of police was maintained about the Powell mansion thru the night.

Mrs. Powell, before her second marriage several years ago, was the widow of R. H. White, founder of the department store business at Boston which bears his name. Her home originally was in Georgia, from which she came as Lena Hibbard, a quarter century ago.

The Powells had been in their summer home only a day, having abandoned their winter apartment in Boston a few days after Mrs. Powell's return from a trip to the Bahamas for her health. Servants were said to have heard a slight quarrel yesterday and in the early evening saw Powell chasing his wife around the house. Shots were heard, the servants rushed to the library and found their mistress dying on the floor and her husband leaving the room. An automatic pistol found in the library proved to have jammed and Powell apparently went to his own room upstairs to get another weapon. He killed himself with a revolver found near his body.

The district attorney announced that the medical examiner had indicated informally to him that Powell had gone insane.

12 BUILDINGS BURNED

KANE, Pa. — Twelve buildings housing families, factories, a newspaper office and other business concerns, were destroyed by fire at Marienville, near here early today. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

HAWISHER MOTOR MEN HOME FROM CONVENTION

Members of the sales department of the Hawisher Motor Car company returned to Lima Tuesday night from district convention of Studebaker dealers held in Detroit on Monday.

Dealers from portions of Michigan and Ohio were present and listened to previously announced plans of the company, for increased capacity. J. A. Ferguson, sales manager of the Hawisher company, started the meeting by challenging dealers in cities anywhere near the size of Lima to sell as many cars in May as the local company plans.

H. P. Harper, general sales manager, announced that all factories had been running to full capacity since last summer and that three million dollars would be spent immediately for additional equipment. He also stated that $200,000 worth of cars would be driven away that day by the dealers present. Of this number the Hawisher company was able to secure only nine cars.

MARCH ON PEKING IS CHECKED

Halt of Wu's Army Only Momentarily However

PEKING — (Associated Press) — The Fengtian army under General Chang Tso-lin has for the moment at least successfully withstood the drive on Changshintien, and stopped General Wu Pei-fu's movement toward Peking. The cost, however, has been heavy, and Changshintien is filled with wounded, many of whom are dying for lack of medical attention.

While Chang has succeeded in this action, there has been no apparent advantage of consequence for either side in the general fighting along the hundred mile front from here to Tientsin and both commanders are rushing up reinforcements in preparation for a decisive action. TO CUT RAILWAY

General Chang's communications are threatened both front and rear, for Wu has thrown 40,000 troops against his right center in an effort to cut the Peking-Tientsin railway, while Admiral Tu Shih-kwei has notified the Nanking consular body of his intention to cut the railway connecting the Peking-Tientsin road with Mukden, General Chang's base. This railway is within the range of naval guns at Chinwangtao. At the eastern end of the battle front, General Wu is marching 20,000 troops toward Maching, one of the Fengtien's strongholds, where heavy fighting has occurred for three days.

Meanwhile word comes thru Shanghai that Sun Yat Sen, president of the southern government, is preparing to send aid to Chang Tso-lin. He will strike at the psychological moment, it was said, sending troops either thru Hankow or Nanking, the route depending on the outcome of the present conflict.

The disappointing part of it all, however, was that the Texan didn't show up.

BAD STOMACH AND HEART PAINS

Got First Relief in Months From Nerv-Worth

When the stomach is sour and the food ferments it produces a poisonous gas that distends the abdomen and presses against the heart causing severe pains and oftentimes dangerous palpitation. We have yet to hear of a single case of indigestion or bowel trouble that was not immediately relieved by the use of the famous Nerv-Worth. J. A. Jacobs, of Chattanooga, Tenn., tells us that he suffered this way for years—could not get a good night's rest but before he had taken his first bottle entirely up he was greatly relieved and a little later he came entirely free from the pains of indigestion and stomach trouble; his bowels were perfectly regular and all his nervousness and sleeplessness disappeared. He could eat whatever he wished without pain or discomfort and felt like a new man. Most druggists sell Nerv-Worth at one dollar a bottle and all are authorized to give the money back if you do not receive satisfactory encouragement from the first bottle. It is always on sale at Hunter's Drug Stores in this city. It is especially fine for delicate women and sickly children as the taste is pleasant and the action mild but very effective.

Nerv-Worth is sold and recommended by Hunter's Drug Stores, Lima; C. M. Young, Van Wert; Gasson's Drug Store, Lima; Drug Store, Kauton; Powell's Pharmacy, Bellefontaine; Wiersel's, Defiance; King Stalkamp, Delphos.—Adv.

Miss Mayme Langmeyer, of Hazelav, welcomed a group of guests at her home, Tuesday evening at an enjoyable affair, announcing the engagement of Marie Clancy to Edward A. Holtz, of Huntington, Ind.

The announcement was made during the luncheon hour. Pink and white satin streamers were suspended from the chandelier to each cover. On one end of the ribbon was a favor while to the other end was attached a small heart bearing the initials, "M. P. C." and "E. A. H." A color scheme of pink and white predominated throughout the other appointments. The evening was enjoyed in dancing and other informal diversions.

The guests included Misses Marie Clancy, Kate Dille, Dalphine Exline, Rose Diamond, Bonnie Reed, Janella Cantley, Mary Kane, Lucella Clancy, Ellen O'Brien, Mrs. Frank Kennedy and Misses Madeline Peters, Olivia Jettinoff and Bertha Jones, all of Delphos.

Mrs. Clarence Klinger, of N. West-st., welcomed the members of the Bridge club at her home Tuesday. The life and works of Debussy were discussed and Mrs. Harold B. Adams, of Bluffton gave a talk on the lesson, "The Goldfish" was played by Mrs. J. Allen Grubb while Mrs. Klinger sang in French, "The Mandolin" and "At Evening," all by Debussy. The guests were Mrs. John Carnes, Mrs. Harley Holmes and Mrs. Adams.

The club will hold its annual outing in a fortnight at the home of Mrs. C. S. Lathrop, at Ft. Amanda.

Literary students and lovers of things really worth while were given a delightful treat Tuesday when Paul Shively, poet and reader presented a group of his poems at both the afternoon and evening assemblies of the Three Arts Exhibition in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

In the afternoon Mr. Shively gave "Moth and Killdeer," "Shrewd Little Critic," "Yi-Yi," "To a Crooked Stick," "Cannon," "Arrowhead," "With a Stone," and "The Red Bird." Helen Hope Holmes then sang "Flit, Flit, Little Bird" by Shively and "There, Little Girl, Don't Cry," by James Whitcomb Riley. The musical accompaniment by Archie Mumma was played by Mrs. Clarence Klinger.

Mr. Shively followed with "Ships at Evening," "When Through a City I Walked," "The Watermelon Harker," "Romance and Wisdom," "The Rescue" and "Little Brown Bird." The evening's gathering opened with Irene Haruff Klinger singing "Fairy Song" with Miss Violet Bradley presiding at the piano. Mr. Shively gave "Fairies Indoors," "Gnomes," "Lightning Bugs," "Good Night, Little One," "The Studio's Photographic," "Liberty," "Dust of Old Days" and "The Junk Man."

"The Red Bird" was sung by Mrs. Dorothy Davison with Miss Bradley at the piano. The following poems were then given by Mr. Shively: "Winter Morning," "Seed Time," "To a Bloodroot Flower," "God Built Creation," "Sonnet," "Arthur, My Son," "Patience," "The Boys Arrive Home" and "International America."

This gifted poet is a man with the spirit of a boy, simple and acute in his manner, he lives in a world of romance and thinks kindly of everyone. His poems are delectable in their simplicity and tenderness and are entirely free from any of the conventional ornaments of the "literary" pastorate.

Mr. Shively says that "poetry bothers most people" but his verse will bother no one who loves poetry that is born not of other poetry but of nature and life.

Of Paul Shively, professor of Beloit College at Harvard University writes: "The new generation of enthusiasts for American verse may find Paul Shively lacking in the technical inventiveness which discovers novel and intricate forms of expression, but they will not turn many pages of his 'Stillwater Pastorals' before finding that here is the revelation of a personality unique in our twentieth-century literature."

FEATHERS ARE THE NEWEST SUMMER FAN MEDIUM

(BY MARIAN HALE)

NEW YORK — (Special) — Elmer Glyn has a yearning—it is to produce "Three Weeks" on the screen. But she told me—it happens I am one of the fortunate who had the opportunity for a taste-taste with Mrs. Glyn on her way, back from Hollywood to London—that she has no hope of doing so as long as official censorship prevails.

Mrs. Glyn has a great fondness for "Three Weeks." And not without reason—for it brought her fame, and much money. She really believes it is a great novel; she told me as much. She has two prides, the first being the author of this torrent of verbal passion, and the second being a grandmother.

A POINT OF PRIDE
Between these opposites poles of pride, so to speak, she has another point of pride; she learned to dance after becoming a grandmother.

Mrs. Glyn has a simple theory of what makes life interesting. "Sex and contest."

Mrs. Fred Beam and Mrs. D. J. Cable will give reports of the national conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution, held in the Centennial Memorial Building in Washington, D. C., April 15-20 at the meeting of the D. A. R.'s Saturday with Mrs. E. L. Kirk, of Lakewood-av. The assistant hostesses will be Mrs. O. B. Solfridge, Mrs. J. Bannister and Mrs. E. B. Taylor.

Mrs. E. R. Jettinoff, of Hazelav, entertained Tuesday evening with an attractive dinner party in honor of Miss Mayme Langmeyer, bride-elect of O. M. Gemke, of Alliance.

Places were arranged for Misses Langmeyer, Mamie Reed, Rose Diamond, Kate Dille, Dalphine Exline, Janella Cantley, Mary Kane, Lucella Clancy, Ellen O'Brien, Mrs. Frank Kennedy and Misses Madeline Peters, Bertha Jones and Olivia Jettinoff, all of Delphos.

Miss Eloise Cunningham, of S. Collett-st., was hostess to the members of the Delta Sigma sorority at their regular meeting, Tuesday evening.

The next meeting will be held in one week with Miss Josephine Garretson, of S. McDowell-st.

The Zenda Shen club will meet with Mrs. Clara DeCurtin, of Greenlawn-av. Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Price, of W. North-st., are entertaining for a few days this week, Mrs. Frank Hay, of Findlay and Miss Nelle Mouser, of Paulding.

At the meeting of the Cotta Class of St. Paul's Lutheran church Monday evening the following officers were chosen: Mrs. Harry Burgoon, president; Mrs. A. H. Light, vice-president; Mrs. Paul M. Brody, secretary and Mrs. G. E. Leist, treasurer. A social hour followed the business session and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Harry Gordon.

Miss Louise Moore, of W. North-st., entertained the members of the Prima club and guests at her home, Monday. The evening was whittled away in music and dancing and at a late hour delicious two-course luncheon was served.

Guests of the evening were Miss Muriel Drury and Miss Fern Ostericker.

The club will meet in a fortnight with Miss Marie Weller, of W. North-st.

Mrs. A. S. Bower, of W. North-st., will be the week-end guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. I. W. Bowyer, of Toledo.

Members of the Heureaux Temps club will gather at the Hotel Argonne, Thursday for a 1 o'clock luncheon. This will be in the form of the annual Guest Day.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart: I came few months ago my husband went to another city to work for a brother who had a moving and trucking business. They wanted him to go in with them so he wanted to sell his home at a reduced price to invest his money. He doesn't write to me all alone and make payments on the home. Did I do right? What should I do? I have always done right by him and helped him to get what we have. Please advise me.

WORKED WIFE
It seems very unfortunate that this incident should cause so much dissension between your husband and yourself. Both of you were probably firm in your belief that what you were doing was right and yet it seems quite unfortunate that you could not have reached a compromise of some kind. Your husband doubtless feels that he would be benefitted financially if he were to invest money in his brother's business and collaborate with him. It is very difficult for a third party to advise in the affairs of the family. I should advise you to go to your husband or communicate with him and reach some agreement which will be favorable or at least partially favorable to both of you. Try not to interfere with your husband's business plans. A man is usually capable of managing his own business affairs.

Dear Miss Smart: Will you please answer a few questions for me? (1) How far from the floor should a girl of 14 wear her dresses? (2) How much should weigh, being 14 years of age? (3) Will you please give me an inexpensive candy recipe, besides taffy and fudge?

(1) The majority of girls of 14 wear their dresses about 14 or 15 inches from the floor. (2) Between 95 and 100 pounds. (3) Sea Foam is very delicious. The recipe follows: To three cups of light brown sugar add one cup of boiling water. Dissolve the sugar and boil until it spins a long thread. Remove from the fire and when it stops bubbling, pour it on to the whites of two eggs, which have been beaten stiff and dry. Then add one teaspoonful of vanilla and one cup of chopped walnut meats. Drop from a teaspoon upon waxed paper.

sacrifices there. I have seen little "extras," girls earning $7.50 a day when they were employed, sharing their all with jobless sisters.

CENSORS CENSORSHIP
"But it's these very hardships that lead to temptation. Hence a girl should have the strongest moral resistance before she attempts a career in Hollywood."

"Censorship, tho, as now conducted, helps neither movie morals nor movie manners. It's like prohibition; it makes the prohibited want to break over. I came to America hoping to learn enough about the technical part of movie making so that I could become a director. But I do not want to make movies in America until conditions have changed."

OUR FIRST YEAR

—BY A BRIDE—

MY POPULAR MAN

Jack is a popular man and I am awfully proud of him. He's handsome—he has manner—and more than that, he has charm. All the girls feel it. And he doesn't seem to know!

It's impossible to ignore the fact that being married doesn't keep people from flirting nowadays. But my Jack moves among women as smoothly, as elegantly, as coldly as a king on a chess board. The married girls can spend hours with him without making their men jealous.

That has made us very popular for week-end motor trips. I've welcomed these trips because we can't possibly afford a vacation so soon after our honeymoon.

Jack has tried to show me that these week-end excursions cost as much as a vacation all by ourselves, for he stands his share by taking the checks at restaurants and hotels. After Jack had figured a little, I hadn't the courage to tell him how much my motor togs have cost. I bought the best things and had them charged. The suit case to fit a car was $50. We couldn't be seen at smart places with smart people unless we had spiffy clothes and mine are just as good as Mary Smith's, altho she spent twice as much as I. My hat cost me only $18 and Mary's cost $37.50. I always try to be economical. One has to on our salary of $2500 a year.

We could get along very nicely on our budget if it were not for our bills. When the bill for my motor hat came I hated to show it to Jack. He looked woefully tired and so I added that bill to the pile in my writing desk. I remember I put it on top of the milk bill. And life has moved so fast that I forgot all about those envelopes until they came in again the next month! It was annoying, for then I had two milk bills which I ought to have paid out of my housekeeping money.

Business isn't going very well with Jack. Commissions simply don't exist. And so we are compelled to live on his salary somehow. That's why I haven't let him know what I've had charged. I intend to as soon as my adorable daughter is paid for.

I know Jack will be perfectly lovely, as always, when I show him what has been necessary for me to buy.

Jack always understands, never glooms nor grouches, and so it's his feelings I worry most about. I think every bride should study her husband's feelings and not hurt them carelessly. Men are a lot more sensitive than some girls think and Jack is far more sensitive than most men.

He likes to stick to his principles. Since he resolved not to break into his savings, the $1000 he put away before we were married, which he calls his wife's safety fund, I know he will manage somehow to get all my accounts balanced without disturbing his savings.

THE WHITE DESERT

She pressed her lips tight.

"I'm not going to tell—yet. You've got to do something for me first. I'm in trouble—she was speaking rapidly now, the words flooding over his lips between gasps, her eyes set, her hands knitting.

"He ran away and left me for three days. The fire went out—my baby—hysterical laughter broke from her dry lips—"My baby died, and still he didn't come. He—"

"Agnes!" Houston grasped her hands. "Try to control yourself! Maybe he couldn't get back. The storm—"

"Yes, the storm! It's always the storm! We would have been married—but there was the storm."

Then she halted, for the briefest part of a moment, to become suddenly madly cajoing, crazily cunning.

"Listen, Barry. You want to know things. I can tell them to you—oh, so many of them. I'll tell them too—if you'll only do this for me. It's my baby—my baby. Won't you promise for me? Take her to a priest—please, Barry—and have her buried in a hallowed ground. Won't you, Barry? Do you want me to die too—or do you want me to live and tell you why I did the things I did? Do you want to know who was back of everything? I didn't do it for myself, Barry. It was some one else—I'll help you, Barry, honestly I'll help you."

"About the murder?" Houston was leaning forward now, tense, hopeful. But the woman shook her head.

"No—the lesse, and the contract. I'll help you about that—if you'll help me. Take my baby—"

The man rose.

"I'll promise, Agnes. If you want to help me afterward, well and good. If not, you are free to do as you please."

The woman had raised eagerly.

TOGETHER THEY WENT ON AGAIN, GRACELESS FIGURES IN FROZEN CLOTHING.

the hazy directions of the sobbing woman he had left behind.

The snowfall was lighter now; he could find his way more easily.

Black spots against the snow, two figures suddenly had come out of the sweeping veil—a girl and a man. Something akin to panic seized Houston. The man was Lost Wing. The girl was Medaine Rob.

Medaine's eyes went with womanly instinct to the bundle in his arms.

"A baby? There was surprise in her tone. Forgetting for the moment her aversion to the man himself, she came forward, touching the blankets, then lifting one edge over so slightly that she might peer beneath. "Where did you find it? Whose is it?"

Houston sought vainly for words. And the words seem to come unbidden:

"Does it matter?"

"Of course not." She looked at him queerly. "I merely thought I could be of assistance."

"You can. Tell me where I can find a priest—the baby is dead."

"Oh." She touched the bundle ever so softly. "I didn't know." Then with a sudden thought, "But her mother. She must need—"

"Only a doctor. I will try to get Ba'tiste to come out."

"But couldn't—"

"I'm sorry." He felt that he was miring himself. Helplessly. He wanted to tell the truth, to ask her aid, to send her back into the woods to the assistance of the stricken woman there. But he could not frame the request. Instead, "I—I can't tell you. I've given a woman my word. She wouldn't understand—If you want there. With Ba'tiste, it is different. He is a doctor. He has a right."

"I understand," came quietly, and in those two words Houston felt that her opinion had been formed; that to her, he was the father; the quiet form in his arms his own child!

"You are asking something almost impossible. The nearest priest is at a settlement near Crestline."

"Crestline?" Houston instinctively turned toward the hills, a bleak, forbidding wall against the sky.

"Will you lend me Lost Wing to run an errand? I want to get Ba'tiste—for her."

"Certainly."

She spoke to the Indian in Sioux then and drew away. Houston, pointing with his head, instructed the redskin.

The Sioux started on, soon to be engulfed in the swirling veil of the storm. Barry turned again to the girl.

"Just one more request. I can't carry the child up there—this way. Will you help strap her to my pack?"

Silently she assisted him in the grim task of mercy. Then:

"Do you know the Pass?"

He shook his head. She tapped one glove against the other.

"It is impossible then. You—"

"I'll make it some way. Thank you—for helping me."

He started on. But she called him back.

"It's dangerous—too dangerous," and there was a note of pity in her voice. "It's bad enough on foot when there's no snow—if you're not familiar with it. I—"

"Tell me the way. Perhaps I could find it. It's not for myself. I made a promise to the child's mother. I'm afraid she's dying."

A new light came into the girl's eyes, a light of compassion, of utmost pity. Slowly she came toward Houston, then bent to tighten the fastenings of her snowshoes.

"I know the way," came quietly. "I have been over it—in summer and winter. I will show you."

"You! Medaine! I—I beg pardon." The outburst had passed his lips almost before he realized it.

"Miss Robinette, you don't know what you're saying."

"I know the way," she answered, without indicating that she had heard his remonstrance. "I am glad to go—for the sake of—"

She nodded slightly toward the tenderly wrapped bundle on the pack. "I would not feel right otherwise."

CHAPTER XVIII

An hour found them in the hills, plodding steadily upward, following the smoother mounds of snow which indicated heavy, secure drifts. As they went higher, and the wind beat against them with its hail of splintered ice particles, Houston saw her heavily gloved hands go to her face in sudden pain and remain there.

The man went to her side, and grasping her by the shoulder, stopped her. Then, without explanation, he brought forth a heavy bandanna handkerchief and tied it about her features, as high as possible without shutting off the sight. Her eyes thanked him. They went on.

"A mile more."

She said no more. He nodded in answer and extended a hand to aid her over a slippery stretch of ice-coated granite. The snowfall ceased, to give way to spasmodic flurries of driving white. And it was in one of the moments of quiet that Medaine pointed above.

Five sploshes showed on the mountain side—the roofs of as many cabins; the rest of them were buried in snow. No smoke came from the slanting chimneys; no avenues were shoveled to the doorways.

"Gone!" Houston voiced the monosyllable.

"Yes. Probably to Crestline. It's too late to turn back now."

She looked at him queerly, then turned away. At last, they reached the cabins. There was no wood; he tore the clapboards from a nearby cabin and the tar paper from the wind-swept roof. Five minutes later a fire was booming; a girl tired, bent-shouldered, her eyes drooping from a sudden desire for sleep, huddled near it. Houston walked to the pack and took food.

"I shall be in the next cabin—awake."

"Yes. I'd rather—keep watch."

"But there is nothing—"

"Illness—a snowslide—a fresh drift. I would feel easier in mind. Good night."

Then with his snowshoes and his pack of death, he went out the door, to plunge thru another drift, to force his way into a cabin, and there go suddenly about the duties of comfort.

The wind-swept night became wind-swept dawn, to find him still grim and drawn and haggard with sleeplessness and fatigue. Then he rose at a call from without:

"Are you ready?"

He affixed the pack. Together they went on again, graceless figures in frozen clothing, she pointing the way, he aiding her with his strength, in the final battle toward the summit of the range—and Crestline.

Noon. And a half-ory from both of them a burst of energy which soon faded. For above was Crestline—even as the little settlement had been—smokeless, lifeless. They had gone from here also, hurrying humans fleeing with the last snow, plow before the tempest, beings afraid to remain, once the lines of communication were broken.

Roofless houses met them, stacks of crumpled snow, where the beams had cracked beneath the weight of high piled drifts; staring, glassless windows and rooms filled with white. Gloomily Houston surveyed the desolate picture, at last to turn to the girl.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

TRICKY TRIKO

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

A larger tree beside the path toppled and fell

The next valley was a terror. The white dove warned the Twins about

"No matter what happens," said the "pretend not to notice, but go straight ahead. The Valley-of-Four-Steps will be sure to try our courage. But no matter what happens, he said, not to scream or cry out. Old Tricky Triko, the second cousin to Twelve Toes the Sorcerer, and third cousin to Eena Eena the Magician, lives in this valley."

"He has no power over you if you do not show fear. Pretend to notice"

With these words he flew away and the journey began again.

"I don't see anything to be afraid of," scoffed Nick. "This looks like our own lovely meadow at home."

They were walking over a nice little bridge that crossed sparkling trout of clear water. But suddenly the words left his lips when the white dove broke in the middle and down they went into the stream. Nancy grabbed Nick, and Nick grabbed Nancy, but not a sound did they make. Then just as suddenly as it had gone down, the bridge righted itself again, and the Twins with it. There they were, walking peacefully along as the nothing had happened. They were not even wet.

"D—did the bridge go down?" whispered Nancy, "or was I dreaming?"

"It really did," Nick told her. "Wasn't it queer? It must have been one of Tricky Triko's tricks."

Before Nancy had time to answer, a large tree beside the path toppled and fell. That is, it nearly fell, and right on top of the Twins at that.

But before it quite reached them it suddenly straightened and stood as firm and graceful as ever, its branches waving quietly in the breeze.

Not a sound had the Twins uttered in this queer Valley-of-Watch-Your-Step.

Character

The something called Character is not achieved over night or created at will. It is a structure founded and maintained by performance. No way has been invented to hurry it, but when it is attained it makes past achievement an enduring part of Today, and a guarantor of Tomorrow.

"THE NEW RETAIL DISTRICT"

MOVIE CAMERA CLICKS FROM POLE TO EQUATOR

(By ESTHER WAGNER)
THE cry for "something different" in the movies seems to have been answered in a photograph recently completed in the Arctic region. It is called "Nanook of the North."
Nanook, the featured player, is an Eskimo. His wife is the leading lady and the cast is made up of Eskimo women and children.
The picture was filmed by Robert J. Flaherty in the region where existence is a constant battle against the elements, where romance blooms and drama moves despite cold and ever impending starvation.
The native hero has a tug-of-war with a walrus and the animal's mate rushes to its rescue.
This picture has not been reviewed by the writer, but its very setting seems to give it merit, for it places the drama of life in a corner of the universe little known to civilized man. It has a stronger flavor of romance than a South Sea Island story or one of the desert sands.

ARBUCKLE
An exhibitor at Washington, Ind., who hadn't heard of Will Hays' ban on Arbuckle films showed "Brewster's Millions," two nights. The crowd was so great that he raised admission prices for the second night. In Bellingham, Wash., an attempt was made to show a Fatty picture, but the public protest so strongly it was withdrawn. The W. C. T. U. of Tulare county, Cal., has forwarded protests to all exhibitors in that county against the showing of Arbuckle films. Hays' action applies only to producers and distributors, as he has no control over exhibitors, except thru distributors. That means that Arbuckle films may show here and there, though the country despite the ban.

A gigantic set in a Japanese movie lot. Looks like D. W. might be over there filming Jap history.

The American Legion Carnival

Big crowds were the rule last night at Murphy Park where the American Legion's Spring Festival is in full swing. The midway was crowded by the sightseers, who patronized the rides and other attractions. The Travers Soapbox, C. W. Parker Carrousel, Ringo Co. Ferris wheel and Mangle's whips are joy rides of the very best make and are safe and some amusements. Over the Rapids and The Flappers' Club are two mechanical fun shows that must be visited to realize what they really have a time for you.
In the Athletic Stadium a snappy four round boxing bout between Sailor Grant and Eddie Murray was won by Sailor knocking Eddie out in the third round with a right hook to the jaw. Peter Jackson refereed. Tonight Walter J. Boop, a one-legged wrestler has challenged George Hill. This "go" promises to be interesting as Boop is considered very clever.
The numerous attractions were well patronized. Beautiful band is a fine spectacular extravaganza replete with novelties a plenty and pleased. York's Animal Circus, George the monkey-man, Carnival Sideshow and Prince Ormsby, the giant ball like was came in for their share of patronage.

The Red on Bay - Guy, Mal, and Art - mother and father are visiting them. Mrs. E. Dodson and wife, who formerly resided at Lima, having been about twelve years ago. Mr. Elmer Beattie also a visitor, and Hilda P. E. Rice and wife, who are relatives of the Dodsons.
Previous to the opening of the evening, Professor Stannard's Royal Italian Band gave an open air concert in the city square. They were accompanied by Miss Louise Cody, "the girl who sings to beat the band." Miss Cody possesses a magnificent contralto voice of unusual range and clarity, and is well known all over the country as a big time act in vaudeville. Miss Cody is the only living niece of Col. W. F. Cody, our late Buffalo Bill of Frontier Days fame. She will sing every evening with the band, the weather permitting.
Tonight is newboy carriers night and "the newbies" will have full away at the Dodson & Cherry shows, rides and attractions on behalf of the American Legion. William Gallagher Post, No. 94. They are to meet tonight in city square at 6:30 and be escorted by the band to the grounds where the legion boys will entertain them.

ers and cities, including Shanghai, will serve as backgrounds for the story.

If it's a girl it's to be called Norma Constance Talmadge Keaton. If it's a boy it'll be called, Joe, after Joseph Schenck, Norma's husband.

"Oh, Oh, Cindy!"—Faurot

SOMETHING decidedly new awaits Lima theatre goers in "Oh, Oh, Cindy!" the extravaganza extraordinary which is to be presented at the Faurot theatre, May 5-6 under the auspices of St. Martha's Guild.

We have been hearing much of "Oh, Oh, Cindy!" and the stories aroused our curiosity. A reporter from The News went to the theatre where the rehearsals are being held with the firm intention of getting a story. Here is the story:

When I arrived at the rehearsal hall the first thing that I noticed was the sound of a piano playing, stopping, repeating. Someone was counting, "one, two, three, four—whirl; now again, one, two, three—sideshow." I opened the door and walked in.

In the center of the room was a group of young ladies practicing one of the dances. M. B. Johnson the professional director, sent here by the John B. Rogers Producing Co., was standing before them, demonstrating some sort of step or other, while at one side sat the piano player. About the sides of the room were gathered groups of people who are members of the cast or choruses, some were talking softly while others were studying their parts. Everywhere there was an air of business, a something which pointed to a definite end or purpose.

I stayed there until the end of the rehearsal but with little idea of what the final result would be. I am sure of them. Then, too, I know there will be good singing, and the songs are clever and musical. The lines of the libretto are among the funniest that I have ever heard in any production. As to the rest, I cannot say. In my opinion it will be "some" show.

If Kidneys Ache or Bladder's Weak
Take Roots and Herbs to Flush Kidneys and Wash Out Irritating Acids

If you have a pain in bladder, back, or kidneys, and remember these weaknesses to hit from acid and it is the duty of the kidneys to remove waste material from the system. If they become overworked and sluggish, it is to their waste efforts to filter and strain all the waste poisons from your blood. Practically all chronic ailments, back ache, dizziness, constipation, sleeplessness, and bladder weakness, come from clogged kidneys.
To have strong, healthy kidneys, capable of easily and normally filtering from your blood all waste of toxins (poisons), which they should do every 24 hours, you simply must keep them clean and active and the acids neutralized so that your kidneys and bladder troubles will be ended. Then you can forget you have a set of kidneys or a bladder. Just a natural attendant to the necessary. Simply get a bottle of Dr. Carey's PRESCRIPTION NO. 777 (Tannin or liquid) made from harmless roots, herbs and leaves and take light after eating. You will be delighted with the results it will bring. Hunter's 2 Drug Stores, Thompson's Drug Store, and all good druggists can supply you—Adv.

KILBANE TO GIVE MARTIN CHANCE AT TITLE

PEPPER EARNS RIGHT BY BEATING HERMAN

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

NEW YORK—If Johnny Kilbane lives up to his promise, he will give Pepper Martin, the Brooklyn featherweight, a chance for his title.

Kilbane said he would meet the winner of the Martin-Babe Herman bout and Martin won the fight with two good left hand shots in the first round last night in the Garden.

If the promoters will offer enough money, there is little doubt that Kilbane will meet Martin because he is in no danger of losing his title and he might figure that he needs money after seeing Europe with none of the freight paid.

NOT THE BEST Neither Martin nor Herman are the best in the group of contenders. Martin is the best built-up fighter in any class, however. His backers have resorted to a circus plan of billboarding their man. His man has been posted all over as the second edition of Terrible Terry McGovern.

He wears a green robe in the ring with Pepper Martin and an Irish in blazing letters on the back. All his seconds wear green sweaters with "Pepper Martin" on the front. When he wins they carry him out of the ring like a football hero.

He probably will be carried out right if he ever meets Danny Frush or Charley Beecher, let alone the champion.

DEMANDS 60,000 BONES Kilbane demanded $60,000 when French promoters wanted him to meet Eugene Criqui, the French champion, and he probably will want more to allow Martin to get a lot of advertising out of a bout with him. There are not many promoters who have that much money to guarantee him.

OHIO RACEMEN PENALIZED

NEW YORK—Numerous suspensions of drivers and horses were ordered by the National Trotting Association, which closed its spring meeting here late last night. John C. Welby of Canton, Ohio, president of the association, was in the chair.

The board of review, among others, announced the following decisions before adjourning until the December meeting:

The White gelding Trouble, 2:23 1-4, suspended until the recording fee of $50 is paid for racing the horse in Alabama last year under the name of "White Swan."

HORSE DYED The chestnut gelding "Sam" identified as Redbird 2:12 1-4 expelled. The horse, it is said, was dyed from bay to chestnut and raced at Grove City, Ohio, Lancaster, Ohio, and Cleveland. C. S. Markley, who raced him, is dead.

The horse "Pat T" suspended until recording fee of $50 is paid for change of name from Mitchell Lammellen. He raced in Alabama and Florida.

H. D. Hackett of Louisville, suspended until he returns the unlawful winnings of Jenny Black amounting to $275, won at Dayton, Ohio, and Xenia, Ohio, last July. The mare was started out of her class.

Dr. Brooks, 2:18 1-4, suspended until recording fee of $50 is paid for racing a horse under the name of "Robert Burns" at Williamsport, N. C.

GETS BIG PENALTY Vic Fleming of Ontario, was fined $200 for racing on members' grounds while under suspension. He raced at Columbus, Ohio last September while under suspension, it is said.

The application of W. Sweeney of Akron, Ohio, for removal of expulsion imposed in 1920, was denied.

The application of C. A. Hammond of Memphis, Tenn., for removal of expulsion imposed in 1917, will be granted, it is said, on payment of $40 unlawful winnings and $50 recording fee for change of horse's name.

Intimate Chats With Rex Beach About The Great Outdoors

BY MORRIS ACKERMAN

Rex Beach is the best posted big game hunter in America today! Quite an assertion, you say.

Well, I don't think so. In fact I'll go a bit stronger and say the Rex Beach is the most experienced all-around big game hunter, small game hunter and angler in America.

Incidentally, Beach has no reason to brag about his hunting and angling accomplishments. He hunts and fishes because they are his hobby, expensive ones at that. Quite a little fame has come to him as a fiction writer. No doubt with fiction writing fame goes some few emoluments.

Beach went to Alaska with the "Klondike gold rush of '97 to get rich." We don't know what were his fortunes as a seeker of gold. We do know, however, that in Alaska he became inculcated with an insatiable desire for brown and grizzly bear hunting, which he maintains is the greatest of all sports. Several times he has returned to Alaska to hunt. Not only bear but sheep, goat, moose and caribou as well.

Next to that he likes duck hunting. Likes it so well that down on the North Carolina coast he has provided himself with every known means for a full enjoyment of the same.

He has hunted Canada from end to end. Got stuck on the province of Quebec. Likes the big variety of fish and game up there and its easy access from New York.

This winter he had a cabin built up the Gatineau river, 50 miles north of Ottawa. Hasn't seen it yet. Here he will have another complete fishing and hunting outfit.

Beach has roped crocodiles in Nicaragua; hunted tapir in Colombia, fished tarpon and sharks in Panama; hunted in Lower California, along the Mexican border and in Cuba.

In the U. S. he has fished and hunted up and down both coasts; cougar in Arizona; deer in the Adirondacks; turkey in the southwest; grouse in Pennsylvania and quail throughout the south. These cover but a part of his experiences.

"And now," says Mr. Beach, "I have other ambitions. One, to hunt the Siberian tiger, another the African lion and elephant."

Macks Hit 3 Homeruns In One Inning, Another Record

NEW YORK—The Philadelphia Athletics today claim the latest spotlight performance in baseball—three consecutive home runs in a single inning, a feat accomplished only twice before in big league annals. Walker, Perkins and Miller of the Mackmen yesterday equaled the clouting history made in 1894 in the National League by Shugart, Miller and Peitz of St. Louis and in 1892 by Lejolie, Hickman and Bradley of Cleveland. The circuit smashes helped Philadelphia to trounce Washington 11 to 2.

The Yankees and St. Louis were tied for the American League honors again today as a result of a batting comeback by the New Yorkers who trimmed Boston 3-1, while Detroit stopped the Browns 3-1.

The Giants have a lead of two and a half games over their nearest rival, Chicago, as the result of making a clean sweep of the series with Boston.

Couch, a recruit, pitched Cincinnati to another victory, this over Pittsburgh to the tune of 9-2, while Cleveland emerged from its slump to trim Chicago, 10-6.

OPENER IS GRABBED BY ROTARIANS

EXTRA innings loomed before the Rotary and Lion diamond warriors of the business men's league in the initial fray of the schedule, Tuesday afternoon at Murphy-st park.

The sixth inning ended with the clubs tied at 5-5, but the Rotas selected their willows carefully in the seventh and deciding frame and by dint of crowning the ball for three hits at opportune moments, coupled with a wobble in the outer garden by Doc Hay, they annexed the old ball game, 8 to 5.

For an eye opener, the contest was lively from the first pitch to the last putout. The score saw-sawed, neither side having an apparent advantage until the fatal seventh, when the Rotarians jumped on Stepleton's offerings for three of the seven bingles and scored a trio of counters.

Eddie Stepleton twirled a mean slow curve and kept the Rotas hits scattered. Doc Coon was at the top of his game and when he choose not to let the growlers pickle his giants, they couldn't touch him.

Fenton was the lever of the Rotas wrecking crew in the final inning. He connected for a sharp single to center. Thompson hit to Wood at short, but what should have been a double play terminated in only Thompson being snuffed out at second. Dud Bernstein scratched a hit to Shephard at third. Then Frank Sealtis clouted in the unifying run with a smart whack to left, scoring Thompson. O'Ferrall binged to the same spot, but Dr. Hay muffed the ball, Bernstein and Sealtis counting. Stepleton got the next two handily, but the damage was done. Coon set the Lions down in order in their half.

Neither side scored in the first, but the Rotarians began operations in the second. Sealtis was safe when a peg to Robenalt pulled him off the bag. Bernstein ran for him and counted on Wisely's slip-up on Coon's smash.

Lions garnered a pair in the second frame thru Robenalt's and Liske's doubles and an error by Waller.

Clem Thompson tied the score in the third by pilfering second and third after reaching first on Wood's boot and riding home on a wild heave to third by Kominski.

Again the Rotarians forged ahead in the fourth. Sealtis walked, but O'Ferrall forced him at second. Coon smashed to center, the reverend gentleman safe at second. Waller hit to short, forcing O'Ferrall at third, then Coon crossed the plate on a wild peg by Soash to Wisely in an effort to cut down Waller at second. Wood's triple and Hay's single tied it up for the Lions.

The Rotas were tame in the fifth, but the Nubians coined a pair. With one gone Soash hit to center.

Wiseley's hopper got t thru Soash, runners advancing to third and second. Then Basinger ripped off a two-play swat, scoring the pair. That was the end of the Lions' scoring.

O'Ferrall's hit, a base on balls to Coon and a bingle to center by Waller gave the Rotas two more in the sixth. With much determination, they unlimbered their warblubs in the seventh and stowed the contest away in easy fashion. Scores:

TODAY, the only man who worries about tires is the one who is trying to "beat the game" with shoddy seconds or long-discount "bargains."

All standard tires deliver a big money's worth. And the few really fine makes—such as Lancaster—turn up so many thousands of trouble-free miles that no thinking motorist has the slightest complaint to make when, after long months of sturdy service, the rugged old veteran finally says, "I'm through!"

AN EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITY

Now and then we sacrifice a new car sale because we will not allow an excessive price for a used car. We do this for the protection of our patrons. If we paid Smith too much, we would have to get it back from Jones. But that would be unfair—and we believe in fairness, even if it hurts.

MUTT AND JEFF—MUTT KNOCKS THE PRINTERS OUT OF A BIG JOB

BRINGING UP FATHER—

SHORT SHAVINGS

Jim Mooney, insurance agent, opened his eyes round as butter plates when he saw two high heel pumps standing side by side with no feet in them at all. The girl's feet got it, he says. "She slipped them out and was sitting on them."

F. B. Hale, druggist, reports a young woman came in and asked the clerk for a tube of tooth paste. "I can't remember the name of the brand," she said, "but it's the kind that smells like a dentist's office."

Fred Linking, salesman for the Overland Co., tells about a purchaser who was taking his first lesson in driving a car. After driving three blocks he said, reasonably enough, "Let's stop and rest a minute."

John H. Blattenberg borrowed a friend's car to drive to a party in the suburbs. Before he reached his destination the car stopped between two hills. No gas. He spent the entire evening getting some and driving back. The next day he found the car was provided with an extra tank containing three gallons, and all that he needed to do was turn a valve at his feet.

H. J. Pfum, elevator, Public Square, was rather compassed to know what to do under the circumstances when a woman called at his store one afternoon, with a big bull dog tugging at a chain.

She asked Pfum if she could check the dog while she attended the show at the Sigma. Pfum referred her to Ray Wink, manager of the Sigma, who kindly obliged, providing a safe place for doggie ture. Ota Davis, undertaker, when told of the incident, suggested that by use of a little embalming fluid the canine could be checked for life.

The A No. 1 Tire Man of the Town

It takes about 80,000 tire dealers to serve the vast car-owning population of this country. What is your idea of what a tire dealer ought to be?

IN 1920 the makers of United States Tires brought a note of commonsense into the tire business with a message which said—

"Go to a legitimate dealer and get a legitimate tire"

From then on—over a period of two years—the American public was given the frankest picture ever published of the good and bad in tire retailing.

It was surprising how many car-owners were as anxious to find a legitimate tire dealer as we were to tell about him.

Today, go into any typical American city and you'll locate one or more tire dealers whose business rank is that of the best dry goods or clothing or hardware store.

This wasn't true a few years ago. Now, when you think of the 12,000,000 automobiles that will soon be running in this country, you can see how legitimate tire merchants are needed.

The makers of United States Tires urge upon everybody—manufacturer and dealer alike—a new kind of competition.

Let us compete for more and more public confidence.

Let us compete for higher and higher quality.

Let us compete for still more dependable public service.

United States Tires are Good Tires

Legitimate tires—such as U. S. Royal Cords. The clean selling idea—expressed by the Royal Cord policy. Responsibility. Where else can you get it—or how?

The A No. 1 tire man of your locality is not going to stop growing. He is an active factor in the new kind of competition, brought into the tire business by the makers of U. S. Tires.

A competition for more and more public confidence. A competition for greater and greater public service.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL
Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. The pleasant little tablets do the work that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.
Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.
